MILWAUKEE

Welcome to our Bay View High School Quarterly Newsletter! This is our space to celebrate the incredible work happening across our school and City Year team — from student growth and creative projects to team milestones and joyful moments that keep us rooted in our purpose.

This first quarter has been full of energy, collaboration, and growth. From Open House and Homecoming to parent-teacher conferences and classroom breakthroughs, our team continues to embody what it means to serve with heart, purpose, and community.

As the City Year Team Leader at BVHS, I'm beyond proud to witness the dedication our AmeriCorps Members bring each day — inside and outside the classroom. Together, we're making Bay View shine brighter than ever.

Here's to more connection, curiosity, and courage as we head into Quarter Two!

DIAMAN

Team Leader

I serve to create spaces where students and teammates feel seen, valued, and empowered to grow. Service reminds me daily that small moments of care can spark lifelong impact.

ISAIAH

Second-Year
AmeriCorps Member

My former president and friend was a member of City Year serving in a Civics classroom!

IMONI

First-Year
AmeriCorps Member

I’m proud to serve as a first-year ACM at BVHS. I love supporting students’ confidence and helping them grow through challenges.

KOURTNEY

First-Year
AmeriCorps Member

My brother served with City Year and loved it — I wanted to experience that same purpose and community.

MILO

First-Year
AmeriCorps Member

I’m passionate about creating inclusive and empowering spaces for students and look forward to pursuing a career in education.

SHAY

First-Year
AmeriCorps Member

I’m from Pittsburgh and came to City Year to live in a new city and make a positive impact on others.

STUDENT SPOTLIGHT

Stories of growth and success from our amazing students:

A student who struggled to turn in assignments began submitting work consistently after receiving reassurance and encouragement from Shay.

A student nervous about presenting her 3DE project gained confidence with Imoni's support — and rocked her presentation!

A biology student scored a high grade after returning from being sick, supported by Kourtney's check-ins.

Milo helped a group of students practice conflict resolution and self-awareness during a pullout — modeling maturity and emotional intelligence.

Kyle's students responded positively to creative lessons and structure, helping their classroom community thrive.

PARTNER SPOTLIGHT

This quarter, we'd like to spotlight our partnership with the BVHS staff and administration team. From collaborating on Open House and Homecoming to supporting CLC programming and parent-teacher conferences, their openness and collaboration have made it possible for City Year to deeply connect with students and families. Our growing partnership has strengthened the culture of care and community at Bay View, and we're grateful to serve alongside such dedicated educators. Our partner teachers deserve a special spotlight this quarter for welcoming our AmeriCorps Members as true collaborators in the classroom. Their communication, patience, and willingness to co-create structures for success have helped our team develop stronger routines and more consistent student engagement. Together, we're creating classroom environments where students feel supported, challenged, and seen.

PROGRESS TO GOALS

As we close out the first quarter, the Bay View City Year team has made meaningful progress toward our school and service goals. From establishing consistent Tier 2 pullouts averaging 4–6 students, to supporting classroom management and student engagement across multiple subjects, our team continues to grow stronger and more intentional in our impact. We’ve built authentic relationships with students, strengthened collaboration with partner teachers, and contributed to major school events like the BVHS Open House, Homecoming, and Parent-Teacher Conferences.

As Team Leader, I’m proud to see each AmeriCorps Member stepping into their own leadership—facilitating trainings, leading activities, and supporting students both academically and emotionally. Together, we’re laying a strong foundation for the rest of the year—one rooted in growth, connection, and our shared belief that every student at Bay View deserves to thrive.
